

THE SEA DIVERS

IN AFFILIATION WITH AMERICAN DIVING

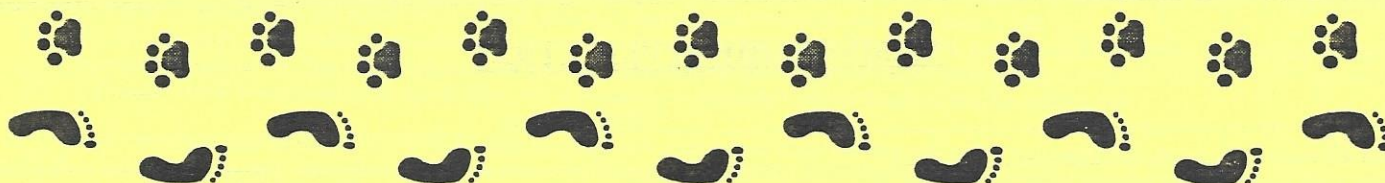

FROM THE EXECUTIVE PULPIT...

During the past several years the rebirth/redefinition of being a Responsible Diver has been pushed to the diving community. Significant editorials in most, if not all, of the dive magazines, newspapers, DAN's Alert Diver and other publications have stressed the need for us all to be personally responsible for our actions while diving. We as a club fully support the "Dive Safety Gospel" which delineates the requirements for Responsible Divers. These requirements are distilled down to five basic rules:

- 1) Dive within the limits of your ability and training.
- 2) Evaluate diving conditions and make sure they fit your personal capabilities.
- 3) Check and be familiar with your equipment before and during every dive.
- 4) Know your buddy's ability level as well as your own.
- 5) Accept the responsibility of your own safety on every dive.

Nothing new here but they are important basics. Dive safe, have fun, and dive regularly.

SEPTEMBER ENTERTAINMENT

A Complete Mystery!

Yes, it's true this month our entertainment will be a complete mystery. Basically, that means as of press time we were still working on a couple of possibilities and didn't have a definite program defined as of yet. So we'll see you at Petrelli's on Tuesday, September 5th for the unveiling of another stimulating program.

"Trim the bowl, you idiots! Trim the bowl!"

ATLANTIS, JOEL I, AND SAN NICOLAS

3 OCT 1995 (Friday)

(ALL INCLUSIVE OF FOOD AND AIR)

ATLANTIS

Members $85

Boarding: 7:00 PM (10/12)

Non-Members $95

Departure: 1:00 AM (10/13)

New Members $43

This is our first bug dive of the 1995/96 season. The Friday dive on the Atlantis with the one and only Joel I. (a.k.a. Mr. San Nicolas) as skipper and our destination is San Nicolas Island.

Over the past several years this has proven to be a great dive with almost ideal diving conditions each time, including drift dives. Drift dives are ideal for the lazy diver who prefers not to swim and/or doesn't know how to use a compass! Also helps if the current is up which it can be based on our recent July experience.

Last years bug season was not so good although some of the larger variety were pulled out at San Nic. We know they're still there so "fetch and go find". Limiting out at seven (right!) will be a challenge but we will have an award for "the best" in class! For other underwater entertainment, large fish of several species are available for the spear chuckers and there are several pretty reef areas for the video or photophiles. Looky-loos will have plenty to view including red abalone!

Aside from all of the above, we'll have a nice cruise back and lots of included food and beverages. Water temperature will be close to the highest it gets around here. Call Kathy (Kaholi) NOW at (310) 719-1816 for early sign-up and a pre-assigned bun on full payment. GREAT DIVE - take a sick day off work if you're out of vacation!!

SANTA BARBARA BOUND

12 NOV 1995 (Sunday)

(ALL INCLUSIVE OF FOOD AND AIR)

ATLANTIS

Members $80

Boarding: 7:00 PM (11/11)

Non-Members $90

Departure: 1:00 AM (11/12)

New Members $40

The November trip will be the last 1995 Atlantis trip and the last Sunday trip of 1995. The infamous (or is it notorious) Joel I. and the ship shape Atlantis will be heading to Santa Barbara Island.

Aside from lobster, Santa Barbara offers just about every element for diving. The tremendous variation of reefs, walls, arches and canyons provide superior opportunities for photography and video. Add to that the extensive variety of sea life and typically great visibility and you've already got the best of diving. Some of the larger fish inhabit the environs, so you spear hungry types will not be disappointed if the lobster don't bite!

This trip is suitable for all levels of experience and we should make 4 to 5 dives. Beginners and the less experienced intermediate divers should be aware that ocean conditions can be difficult the the event of high currents or surface wave action. Call Kathy Kaholi at (310) 719-1816 for sign-up. Bunks will be pre-assigned on a first come, first paid basis. So sign up now. The Fun and the bugs are waiting for you at Santa Barbara Island. Boarding begins at 8:00 PM on the 11th for a 1:00 AM departure on the 12th. Don't forget your chem lights and dive lights as an early a.m. night dive is possible.

An Almost Begg Rock

Atlantis left the Cabrillo Marina dock about 11:20 p.m. headed with a full load of Sea Divers to the elusive Begg Rock. Somewhere in the early a.m. Saturday, Joel I. turned south and headed to the east end of San Nicolas and the protected south side of the island. Weather at Begg was beyond marginal due to wind. Surprisingly, it was flat calm with no wind at our first spot about one mile west of the east end. Depths were to 60 feet in 59°F water with no current. Abalone were available along with a smattering of medium sized scallops and a few large fish. By the end of the first dive the wind was ruffling the surface and as we headed further west the wind increased noticeably. Our second dive was at about the mid-point of the south side. Surface chop was up the wind was up but so was the kelp, so no current. Depths to 50 feet or so, visibility at 25 to 30 feet and temperature down a degree or two. Again abalone and scallops were the order.

It was now even windier and we doubled back east into the west end of Dutch Harbor. Lousy spot!! There was a significant amount of ocean plant debris flowing back and forth with the swells, making the weaker stomach divers return to the boat fairly quickly. Depth was to 45 feet with just a hint of current. Visibility was about 20 feet out of the debris on the bottom! A short move east put us in better water with less muck around. Otherwise conditions were much the same as dive three. A smattering of scallops, abalone, and fish were brought on board.

Diving over, wind up, we turned for home. Joel I. has Atlantis in fine tune making the dock at 6 hours 38 minutes from the island. Not bad at all!! We did not award our typical boobie prize as there was no really outstanding boobies. Roger S. got real close with his tank falling out of the backpack routine at the gate. Dexter K. was next in line with his no fins performance and as usual John D. gets a honorable mention for being attached to the boat after donning his gear for dive three. Amazing but not quite award material!! The Atlantis crew did a nice job, the food was good and even with a full 30 diver load it was not too crowded on the back deck. See you in October.

(Editor's Note: John D. was actually performing trial runs of the new sport he's developing called "Bungie Diving". The advantage of the sport being that one can avoid those long grueling swims back to the boat!!)

Dear Krabby

Dear Krabby,

I hear it from the instructors and I read about it in all of the dive magazines but I just don't get it. What exactly is neutral buoyancy? Daniel Webster says 'buoyancy' is "the ability or tendency to float or rise in liquid or in air...the power to keep something afloat, etc." Then if I look up neutral it says "indifferent". It seems to me that things can either be buoyant or they're not. They either float or sink. Is being neutrally buoyant analogous with being 'almost pregnant'? I would appreciate it if you would explain this whole concept to me.

Full of Air

Dear Gas Bag,

The main thing you need to understand is that diving is a sport that has evolved to extreme levels of commercialism. The point being that manufacturers and retailers will take any simple thing and make it sound more complicated solely for the purpose of being able to charge more for it.

One of the first things you learn from your instructors is how to properly weight yourself to account for all of the gear you wear when diving. But, the instructors use a rule of thumb when estimating the weight for the individuals and don't necessarily take into account the differences in physiology of the students. Also, instructors like to add a little extra weight so they don't have to go looking at the surface for their students when they want them all to be on the bottom of the ocean for a dive.

Now let's take the subject of 'buoyancy'. You're right in that it means 'to float' but the dive gear people take this one step further and insistently advise you that to be properly equipped for diving you need a 'buoyancy compensator'. This piece of gear is essentially a balloon in the shape of a vest with a surface on the back to attach a tank via straps. The logical question is, how can a balloon compensate for buoyancy? The fact is, it can't.

It can only compensate for the lack of buoyancy.

Here's where they've got you. You're a student and you sink like a rock because your instructor told you to wear too much weight. Only you're too ignorant to know it's too much weight and anyway your instructor is a god. They know everything. So you hear about these things that can prevent you from sinking and you think 'Hey, I've gotta have one of those!' So you wander into your local dive store, plop down several hundred dollars, and become the proud owner of a really expensive balloon. But, at least it comes in nifty colors.

Back to your topic of 'neutral buoyancy'. It has a basis in commercialism too. The neutral, or indifferent portion refers to the point of time where you've acquired enough knowledge and skills in the diving arena such that you are essentially immune to the high pressure sales techniques employed at the dive stores. The buoyancy part comes in when though this realization of your 'neutrality' you come to the conclusion that you won't have to blindly spend money on gear you don't want or need and hence raise your spirits because you know your bank account won't get drained so rapidly in the future.

Send your questions to 'Dear Krabby', c/o The Sea Divers, P.O. Box 2415, Redondo Beach, CA 90278

"Well, so that's it. ... I thought he was coming up awfully easy."

LA PAZ UPDATE

The Sea Divers now almost annual trek to La Paz, Baja California is locked in place and set for 12 September through 18 September 1995. The trip as planned includes round trip airfare, six nights at La Concha Beach Resort, and three days of three tank diving (additional diving, fishing, etc. can be added for additional $$). We have twelve members signed up at a total cost per diver of less than $700 - an outstanding deal. Late comers can sign up but the price will probably rise some, primarily driven by the air fare. If anyone else is interested call Allen (Parker) at (310) 813-2955 (day) as soon as possible, it's just around the corner!!

JUST TEN YEARS AGO...

John Mowrey was President, Robin Grant, Vice-President, Mary Kavanaugh, Treasurer, and Kathy Adams (Kaholi), Secretary. The big news of the month was the upcoming 9th annual Halloween Ball, a club tradition for many years. The boat dive was to Bee Rock on the west side of Santa Rosa Island on the Truth with no price quoted!! The beach dive was a Catalina campout at $60 including a Texas T-Bone Dinner at the Descanso Bay Beach Club! The Exec. was looking for a new Newsletter editor (now!!) and a new Dive Boat Chair - sounds familiar!!! General meetings were held at Beach Bum Burts at King Harbor, now the Cheesecake Factory, and Exec meetings were rotated at the homes of the Execs. The newsletter for September's first six pages were peach, the seventh and eighth pages were pink!!!

Sea Diver Quote History

We began "Quotes of the Month" in the May 1988 newsletter in which there were just three quotes:

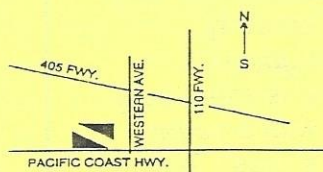

- 1) "Wrecks don't look like boats, they look like a pile of junk." - (Larry Akers, circa April '88)
- 2) "..... 100 feet to 110 feet, that's not deep!" - (Anonymous, circa April '88)
- 3) "The TRW SEA DIVERS, apparatus suffering from nitrogen narcosis (!?) entertained the rest of us on the dance floor (and one unnamed member most particularly) with a strip tease of sorts among other antics." - (Catalina Underwater Adventures Association newsletter, March '88)

The first two quotes came from our wreck dive on the Bold Contender in April 1988 to the Olympic and the Valiant. The third quote was from the 1988 Avalon Harbor Clean-up Banquet in the Casino ballroom as described in the follow-up newsletter from Catalina. (Note: They've never used the Casino since for that event!!)

DIVE BOAT POLICY

A club member may, but is not required to, have a boat deposit on file with the club. A club member may make a reservation on an upcoming dive as follows:

- A) Unconfirmed reservations may be made for any boat dive at any time. To confirm a reservation, payment in full must be received.
- B) For single day dives, divers holding an unconfirmed reservation will be called 3 weeks prior to the dive and advised that payment in full is required no later than 15 days prior to the dive to be confirmed. Dive boat deposits will be considered as payment in full.
- C) For two day dives, divers holding unconfirmed reservations will be called 5 weeks prior to the dive and advised that payment in full is required no later than 30 days prior to the dive to be confirmed. Dive boat deposits may be used as part of the payment in full.
- D) If payment in full is not received by the deadline, the diver may be replaced by a wait listed diver who has paid in full.

Any reservation may be cancelled two weeks prior to a dive with a full refund. Cancellations will not be accepted within two weeks prior to the dive unless a diver holding a reservation can sell or transfer their reservation to another qualified diver. The dive reservationist will assist in this process, but is not responsible for providing paying alternates. When confirmation is received by the dive boat reservationist that a cancelling diver is being replaced by another qualified diver, the replacement diver is then fully responsible for the cost of the dive.

If a diver has a deposit on file with the club and uses that deposit to secure a reservation on a boat dive, he may not use that deposit to secure additional dives until he has paid the club for the first dive. Two years after a diver has ceased to be a member of the club, his unclaimed dive boat deposit will be forfeited to the club. Only club members of The Sea Divers and members of other selected clubs may make boat dive reservations prior to one month before a scheduled boat dive. Partial refunds from single day boats which do not make the advertised dive location will be passed on to members who request them within two weeks.
